The completeness of this exhibit of summer dresses for women, misses, juniors and children is creating as much attraction everywhere, and this particular event on Wednesday afternoon will demonstrate, and create surprise and rejoicing among those who consider their purse strings sufficiently to patronize this sale.

Fine Minstrel Show.
The Elks' minstrel played to a house of full capacity in the auditorium of the Elks' home Monday night. Emmett Gill, June Horne, A. J. Smith and Charles Gill as vocalists were never better and they are always as good as are to be seen on a public platform. Mr. Horne appeared for the first time and all who heard him know a new star in the musical armament has been discovered. Fleming H. Holden, renowned impersonator, fully maintained his reputation.

A melo-drama sketch entitled "Further Down East," concluded the engagement, in which Samuel R. Bentley, Percy Byrd, Fleming H. Holden and John Kane appeared to great advantage. The presentation brought many a laugh and some tears as well. The program was as follows:
